RUSSIA AND OUR WAR. What fourse would Russia have Taken France and Fugland Actively Aided the Southern Rebellion (

What fonce would flavour new Takes and France and Poulinal Actively. And Press the Continuous Carette. And the Statesmen have and that sentiment has no part in international calvers, but there is a story which if their would show that the americal could be found to the care in a continuous and part in international calvers, but there is a story which if their would show that the americal of all the Russias had a most sontimental regard for the great denverative regulation of the Americans. This has been variety bying shout bur, since the exart staking off, useful persons are given it form. Mr. Thirlow Wood, who now supplies voteran reminiscences to sull the demand. has undertaken to Eartish facts for this resinates, but when selfed they amount to this. I. In the early stage of the rebellion a Russian agualran winfored in New York hathor; other flavoid may winfored in New York hathor; other flavoid made and and admired foreign and did now more the visiting. 3. One day Farcaga asked have be the Wissian admired and Admired Foreign and the worders sold only to be broken in a contingency that had not yet occurred. These scalad orders give influte scope to imagination. Furthermore the admired made prevail in the strictest confidence that he had worbal orders to break the scala if, during the reledition, we became involved in a war with foreign nations. This arising gives an entimeted hold to Sancy. As the Russian did Farragui told Wesal. I, Secretary Seward asked the Russian minister why the squadron was staying here, and lee answered that he knew not, but 'that it had no unfriently purpose. Mr. Weed nates further, of his own developing knowledge, that Hussia sent these shibs here to take one part if Eughand and France made were on it.

It has been stands by Mr. Lewell that he saw an autograph lefter from Louis Napoleon urging the ease to unite with France and Emaland, and a copy of the care to unite with France and Emaland, and a copy of the care in unite with the security of the scaled orders.

"caty.

A. H. improves on the others in the matter of the scaled orders. A. H. improves on the others in the matter of the scaled orders.

"There was still another order sent to the high admiral (I believe Lavitek) by name, then stationed in the West India islands, to called all the Russian vessils under his command, sat to eastern latitude and longitude, and open scaled orders sent to him by a dispatch-dap. These orders went that he should all immediately for New York, hasten to Washington, report to President Lindsoln and remain under his orders until relieved, thus testifying most enceived by the that, our most trying bour, his friendship for the people of the United States."

Thus, by a process of evolution, the fact that some Russian ships were in New York harbor a lart of the winter has grown to a history that Russia sort them here to be ready to make war on England and France, without waiting for further orders or for a declaration of war. Therefore Russia saved the great republic from the mere worden of Great Britain and France in be sof of the confederacy.

Mr. H. C. Dane, of Change, supplements all this by a letter to the New York Heralli, which he represents that all this intert of the cara was brought out by Gortschakoff as a represent short has here in the formand Drick Aloxis, and that he. Dane, has warracia all this stuff many times in his historical lectures, and thereby it has become history. All of which shorts the value of Mr. H. C. Dane as an illustration of war.

thereby it has become bestery. All of which shows the value of Mr. H. C. Dame as an interioral lecturer.

Suppose we apply to all this the rule of common some. We porceive that the basis of fact is the sheaderest, the structure of famey most childishly evolution. Hassia had had quite as much of war as sho wanted with England and Frame. The broken republic round do nothing to aid Russia in a war with these powers. Russia would have sacrificed berself by such a war. A ration which is not governed by a foot does not send off a squadron to remote parts with scaled orders to make contingent war on the fleets of two of the greatest power for a more sectimental statchment. Such a fleet as England alone would have sent upon the Trust affair would have made short work of the Russian squadron, and then Russia would have had a great war on ker hands.

Therefore, instanced as the the only thing which that squardron could do, in such a conjugation, was to share the spull and glory, the only rational combission is that the case went it here for that purpose. The pretense of mystery at that time, and the subsequent pretonso, were but a small feat for Russian diplomacy, which has always been fanced for the arts of deceir.
